

PROJECT #4... MY COMMUNITY PROJECT

Let's get real! Build a project that creates good in the world. Look at what is needed within all of your communities and create a project that will positively impact one of your communities. Take on the leadership of building and implementing your project and making amazing things happen. Could be something small or something huge.

Here is your challenge

1. Take a good amount of time and make a list of ALL of your communities, these include clubs you're a part of, religious groups, neighbourhoods, cultural groups, family, friends, your school, interests you have, writing, science, math theater, art etc, and social causes, include groups you would like to be a part of, and anywhere you spend your time. (community could be as small as your school or as big as the world).
2. Brainstorm on things that you hate in your various communities. Research other successful community projects that have been started. Go to franqgirl.com/club-projects for some samples to get the research started
3. Brainstorm what you love. Do you love art, literature, working with people, public speaking etc.
4. Combine items from the list of things you hate with items from the list of things you love and start coming up with ideas for your community project.

Example of how this works...

I HATE...

The way girls are represented in the media

+

I LOVE...

Graphic design, writing and working with people

Create a magazine that portrays girls as complex and diverse :)
