

PROJECT #2... I AM POWERFUL PHOTO PROJECT

Photographers use their cameras as tools of exploration, passports to inner sanctums, instruments for change. Their images are proof that photography matters—now more than ever.

– National Geographic

Here is your challenge

1. Decide as a group on a theme that matters to you around the topics of beauty, body image, individuality and diversity (or lack of) in the media.
2. Do some research online, start a pinterst board or an old fashioned mood board with images that inspire you.
3. Decide on what the clothes, props and location of the shoot(s) will be.
4. Take the photos (you can use an iphone, camera or digital camera)
5. Upload all of your photos to your computer and see how they all work together. What story do your photos tell?
6. Send your finished photos to kristin@franqgirl.com and we will put them up on our site. The best ones may be used in future FRANQ GIRL editorials with full credit to you.
